

Welcome to your Mystery Science Training Guide!

Use this ready-to-go presentation to host a
30-minute training for teachers.

Before the training, make sure to:

1. Email your colleagues the sign-up link and message (on next slide).
2. Optional: Adjust this presentation to add personal touches. Don't forget to share your own stories, and to recall those special learning moments in class. We encourage you to make this training your own!
3. Get ready to have fun! 😊

1. Email your colleagues. Copy and paste the message below, and insert the missing information specific to your school.

Hi fellow teachers,

I'll be sharing why I use Mystery Science at our upcoming staff meeting on [INSERT DATE/TIME/LOCATION]. I'd love to help you get started with this easy, engaging resource!

Before the training, please join our school's Mystery Science account by clicking on this link: [INSERT YOUR SCHOOL'S LINK].

Bring your laptop with you to the meeting: that way, I can help you get set up and be ready to go!

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the Mystery Science website. The browser's address bar shows the URL `mysteryscience.com/mini-lessons/cats-purr#slide-id-5724`. The website's navigation bar includes the Mystery Science logo, a search bar, and links for 'Ask Doug', 'Contact Support', and 'Polly'. Below the navigation bar, there are tabs for 'LESSONS' and 'MINI-LESSONS', with 'MINI-LESSONS' being the active tab. The main content area features a video player with a large play button in the center. The video title is 'Why do cats purr?' and the presenter is 'Jaelynn, 5th Grade'. Above the video player, there are three circular icons labeled 'Video', 'Bonus', and 'Vote'. To the right of the video player, there is a blue arrow pointing right and a 'Full Screen' button. Below the video player, there is a progress bar showing '1:19' and buttons for 'Share Student Link', 'Google Classroom', and 'Extensions'. In the bottom left corner, there is a small circular video feed of a woman. At the bottom of the page, there is a section titled 'Previous Episodes' with a small icon.
