

Lesson: Could you knock down a building using only dominoes?

| | |
|-------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| chain reaction machine | a machine that uses a series of energy transfers, such as one domino knocking over a line of dominoes |
| energy | the ability to do an action |
| energy transfer | when energy travels from one place to another |
| engineer | a person who uses science to come up with solutions to problems |
| experiment | a test used to discover new information about a question |
| lever | a simple machine, made of a beam that pivots from one point |
| stored energy | energy that is not in use, but is saved inside something, such as batteries or rubber bands |