Vocabulary

mystery science

Lesson: Why do dogs wag their tails?

behavior	the actions and reactions of living things communicate	to exchange information environment	a living thing's surroundings, including other living things and non-living parts like soil, water, and air evidence	information that can be used to support or reject an idea observe	to pay close attention to something predator	an animal that hunts and eats other animals protection	the act of keeping something or someone safe social behavior	behaviors of living things that live in groups survive	to stay alive